

If a person opts not to receive unsolicited phone calls from telemarketers, then they should be able to do so. I work night shift, and I have been woken up numerous times by phone calls I do not wish to receive. I don't want to turn my phone off, in case my family needs to reach me. The no-call list has improved the quality of my life immensely. I pay for my phone, and no one should be able to use it to harrass me with unwanted solicitations. Telemarketers have no right to intrude upon the lives of those who do not wish to deal with them. Let them find another method to do business.